LOCKSTREAM

LockStream provides the link between the media owner and media purchaser, managing the purchase transaction, providing the appropriate player and securely delivering and tracking the proprietary content.

Our unique digital encryption services ensure total security in the transfer of media content from providers to merchandisers or directly to users online. With LockStream technology, providers now have a reliable, cost-effective method of delivery and are assured payment for their media product.

LockStream Products

- Credit Card Encoded Download - This solution uses LockStream's unique digital server technology to customize encoded content for single-user purchase (users cannot copy content or share it with networked computers).
- Morphing Player - LockStream's multi-platform media player builds brand identity by morphing to reflect the artist, publisher, studio or star relating to the media being purchased.
- Scalable Smart Architecture - Content providers can inventory digital stored media in LockStream's multiple server locations and intelligently manage the flow of download requests.

Audio, video and other content is delivered through LockStream's unique morphing player, delivered as a small file. The player is platform-independent and quickly downloads to virtually any portable hardware device using Windows, Windows CE, Macintosh, Linux or PalmOS.
