

Approach:

Girvin was tasked with the creation of a variety of collateral materials for Microsoft's Human Resources department for recruitment of new employees. The work encompassed design and production of an informational brochure, response letter, materials packet, acceptance and welcome informational pieces.

Result:

Our design work had a powerful impact on future Microsoft recruits and served as a strong tool for the human resources department in acquiring new talent.