

With NAC | Architecture teams, GIRVIN developed a new mission statement, values, principles, and brand messaging for various types of marketing communication. Our team created a new name compression for the organization, moving from Northwest Architectural Company to the new leaner and more modernist presentation of NAC | Architecture.

In addition to the strategic and positioning discussions, GIRVIN's creative team built the new identity, brand guides, print systems and website.